

BOOSTING

ACHIEVEMENT for SIFE

TUESDAY
MAR 27, 2018
DALLAS, TX

REACHING STUDENTS with INTERRUPTED or MINIMAL EDUCATION

Based on current growth mindset research and the practical experience of Carol Salva, a master teacher currently achieving success with SIFE students in Houston, this training demonstrates user-friendly techniques that close achievement gaps for unschooled or under-schooled learners. Come explore how to leverage ELLs' unique backgrounds with authentic learning experiences that transcend language barriers and promote academic achievement. Learn targeted strategies that empower teachers to see that students are able to accelerate in their learning, despite challenges they may have faced.

Participants will receive a copy of Boosting Achievement: Reaching Students with Interrupted or Minimal Education by Carol Salva & Anna Matis.

The training will include:

- Practical methods based on recent research
- Classroom simulations
- Hands-on techniques you can start using tomorrow
- Video and testimony by newcomer and SIFE students

WHO SHOULD COME

- Content area teachers
- ESL teachers
- ELL coordinators
- Administrators

Carol Salva

is a current Refugee Teacher on Special Assignment in Houston, Texas. She is also an educational consultant with Seidlitz Education. Carol was named Spring Branch ISD's District Teacher of the Year in 2009 and is a certified Abydos Writing trainer as well as a former Bilingual and Special Education teacher. Carol specializes in using research-based strategies to teach grade-level content to unschooled/under-schooled language learners. Carol Salva holds a Masters degree in Education Administration with a Principal Certification.

Anna Matis

is a writer and consultant for Seidlitz Education. Her love of language learning stems from childhood experiences as an immigrant and ESL student from Budapest, Hungary. Proficient in multiple languages, she is passionate about second language acquisition for all ages, sheltered instruction strategies, heritage language learning, and long-term ELL research. She has lead professional development at the state and national level, coached teachers in ESL strategies, and created instructional products for both teachers and administrators working with ELLs. Anna recently co-authored Boosting Achievement: Reaching Students with Interrupted or Minimal Education.
